

Research Study

Why is my child doing this and how do I figure it out?

We can teach you how to figure out why your child may be having problem behaviors and how may we address those behaviors.

We are currently conducting research study to is to teach parents how to implement the different components of a behavioral procedure and evaluate the accuracy of those steps implemented as trained to develop treatment.

Contact us:

Yeni J.Ramos

Student Research

Email: yeni.amos@siu.edu

Lesley Shawler, Ph.D., BCBA

Research Advisor

Email: lesley.shawler@siu.edu

Telephone: (618) – 536 – 2302

You may qualify if:

- You are a parent of a child with challenging behaviors.
- You have little to no experience with applied behavior analysis procedures.
- You would collaborate with practitioner on your child's therapy.
- Willing to travel to SIUC Campus for three to five times a week.

Voluntary Participation involves:

- Speaks and understands English
- Following a set of training instructions.
- Dedicating 60 to 120 minutes three to five times a week. Weekends as needed.
- Approximately 12 weeks to complete.
- Consent to be video and audio recorded.
- Withdrawing without penalty or affecting other services.